

Wallabies at Top Farm

Top Farm is home to a Bennetts Wallaby called Tigger. Tigger loves the attention of our calmer service users and enjoys being hand fed, his favorite treat being willow.

Typical Daily Activities

Each day the service users will be required to muck out and tidy Tiggers enclosure as well as provide him with food and fresh water and of course lots of fuss!

In The Wild

Bennetts Wallabies (sometimes known as Red-Necked Wallabies) are often found in Eucalyptus Forests but can tolerate a diverse range of habitats including farmland. Fairly solitary by nature they will meet in groups of up to 30 to feed though these groups are not defined and change frequently.

Did You Know?

Whilst more renowned for their hopping abilities, Wallabies can in fact swim quite well.

Class: Mammal (Marsupial)

Origin: Australia's East Coast

Average Lifespan: 9-12 Year

Diet: Grasses and herbs.
During very dry spells roots would become their main source of food and water. In captivity we feed greens, hay and macro-pod biscuits.
